I am an experienced, passionate and engaged scientist within the field of enzymology, kinetics and drug metabolism. I enjoy carrying out hands-on research in the laboratory as well as working with pharmacokinetic modelling and simulations. I thrive in a dynamic environment with exciting tasks and enthusiastic colleagues.

WORK EXPERIENCE

2017- PhD Research Fellow

Dept. of Biomedicine, Aarhus University, Denmark

Key tasks:

- In-depth understanding of enzymology and kinetics
- Hands on experience with in vitro kinetic experiments, LC-MS techniques and HPLC and analysis thereof
- Experienced in pharmacokinetic modelling and simulation
- Responsible for design, planning and execution of several projects
- Coordinating collaborations both internally/externally
- Experienced communicator from collaborations, teaching and presentations

2015-2017 Student laboratory assistant

Dept. of Clinical Immunology, AUH, Aarhus, Denmark

Key tasks:

- ELISA and Western Blot analyses as part of the XFUTURE research project.

EDUCATION

2017: MD, MSc Medical Science

Aarhus University, Denmark

2014: BSc Medical Science

Aarhus University, Denmark
